

Abstract of the Disclosure

An apparatus and method for a message card having a memory bearing a message for substitution in lieu of, for example, a caller ID value of a phone at which the message card is used. The apparatus and method also have applicability outside the telephony arena, such as, for example, in internet or instant messaging applications.

0974536-122100
007227-98854260